WTP AUTHOR WINS AWARD

M. R. Sellars' All Acts of Pleasure Wins P&E Award

All Acts Of Pleasure, book 7 in the best-selling Rowan Gant Investigations Paranormal Thriller series, and book 2 of the Miranda Trilogy story arc, has won first place in the "Preditors & Editors Readers Choice Poll" for the Mainstream Novel category.

The poll is held once per year and allows readers worldwide to vote for books from Independent as well as the well-known Mega-Publishers. Several categories ranging from Mainstream to Horror Fiction, and everything in between are populated with nominations.

Congratulations to M. R. Sellars on the receipt of this honor.

M. R. Sellars is a practicing Witch and Elder of the Grove of the Old Ways, as well as being a best selling novelist. His series, the Rowan Gant Investigations offers readers a dose of real-life pagan concepts woven within gut wrenching occult suspense-thrillers. His deadpan observations of the world around him have prompted Sellars to be called the "Dennis Miller of Paganism."

All seven books in the RGI series have spent numerous weeks on bookstore best-seller lists, as well as garnering several literary awards. The most recent novels in the series are the explosive and revealing "Miranda Trilogy" which began with Love Is The Bond (2005), continued in All Acts Of Pleasure (2006), and is set to conclude in The End Of Desire (Autumn 2007). Future RGI novels beyond the trilogy have already been contracted.
